TUE 21 JUNE 2022 9:00AM CET / 5:00 PM AEST

A stone skip's across a lake, creating an ever growing ripple effect before it settles. An analogy to describe the latest phenomena to surface - Global citizens from all corners of the world are reassessing their lives, both personally, professionally, geographically and making sweeping and profound changes that are unexpected and at times confronting, yet entirely meaningful.

The effect is rolling out as we speak and many employers are only now comprehending their true impacts. So how do we as Nations, corporations and communities and individuals assess and respond? Our Panellists Stephan Breitfeld and Allan Laurie will talk to the economic and social restructuring occurring in major cities and regional locations; tie the benefits of contemporary workforce capability deployments, proactive and consistent succession planning and talent pipelining and delivery of cultural competencies within workforces that create cohesion and productivity - and assist us all to reflect on the value creator that a 'cradle to grave' development philosophy can deliver within organisational ecosystems.
